

How do I find out if I am eligible for a waiver?

First, call or visit an Aging and Disability Resource Center (ADRC) or Short Term Assistance and Referral (STAR) agency to identify the types of programs you may qualify for. If you are a person with an intellectual or developmental disability, a STAR can help you get on a waiting list for waiver services first. If it looks like you will qualify for waiver services, you will be given a list of care coordinators who can help you apply for a waiver.

What happens next?

Your care coordinator will arrange for someone to come to your home to do an assessment that finds out what your medical and functional needs are. You will get a letter that tells you if you are approved for waiver services or not.

How do I know what services I can get?

If you are found eligible, your care coordinator will help you to develop a support plan for your waiver. To learn what services are available in your area, visit the Provider Search Tool: <https://akaccesspoint.com/SitePages/Home.aspx>

Do I have to have a care coordinator?

Yes. Your care coordinator will submit your support plan, help you to find service providers, check on your services, and also contact you at least once each month, depending which waiver you are on. You may contact your care coordinator at any time to discuss your services and any concerns you may have.

Do I have to get all my services from the same agency?

No. You may choose to get approved services from any certified provider in your area.

<h2 style="margin: 0;">WAIVER SERVICES</h2> Alaska's five Medicaid waivers support the independence of Alaskans who experience physical or developmental disabilities by providing services in their homes and in the community rather than in an institution such as a nursing home. Each waiver covers a different set of services. Which services are available depend on a person's age and where the person lives. Services approved for each waiver are marked with a ✓; FT=full time; PT=part time; ALH=assisted living home.	ALI	APDD	IDD	CC MC	ISW
 Care coordination: All waivers require clients to work with a care coordinator. Your care coordinator will work with you to identify which services you need, and make sure that you get them.	***	***	***	***	***
